m lished by his son after his death, and by him entitled, Posthuma Fragmenta Poematum Georgii Coryate.—Descriptio Angliæ et Descriptio Londini. Edited by James Lumley, Kingston, of Dorchester. 1763.

CORYATE, Thomas, the eccentric son of the preceding, was born at Odcombe in 1577. He was a great traveller, and visited many of the Asiatic States and other eastern countries; died at Surat in the East Indies, in 1617.—Coryat's Crudities hastily gobled up in five moneths Trauells in France, Sauoy, Italy, Rhetia, cõmonly called the Gryson's Country; Heluetia, alias Switzerland, some parts of High Germany and the Netherlands, newly digested in the hungry aire of Odcombe, in the County of Somerset, n and now dispersed to the nourishment of the Trauelling Members of this Kingdome. Three Crvde Veines are presented in this booke following, besides the foresaid Crvdities, no lesse flowing in the Body of the Booke, then the Crvdities themselues, two of Rhetoricke and one of Poesie. That is to say, a most elegant Oration, first written in the Latin tongue by Hermanvs Kirchnervs, a Ciuill Lawyer, Oratour, Cæsarean Poet, and Professor of Eloquence and Antiquities in the famous Vniuersitie of Marpvrg, in the Langrauiat of Hassia, in praise of Trauell in generall, now distilled into English spirit through the Odcombean Lembecke. This precedeth the Crvdities. Another also composed by the Author of the former, in praise of o Trauell of Germanie in particular. Sublimed and brought over the Helme in the Stillitorie of the said Trauelling Thomas. This about the center or nauell of the Crvdities. Then in the posterne of them looke, and thou shalt find the Posthum Poems of the Author's father, comming as neere kinesmen to the worke, being nexst of blood to the booke, and yonger brothers to the Author himselfe. Lond. 1611, 4to. This volume has an immense number of mock commendatory verses, by the most eminent Poets and choicest Wits of that age. Reprinted, Lond. 1776, 3 vols. 8vo.—The Odcombian Banquet; dished foorth by Thomas the Coriat, and served in by a number of noble Wits, in prayse of his Crvdities and Crambe too. Lond.
p 1611, 4to. Collini Analysi Marci Beumleri illustratæ. Franc. ap. Joh. Wechel. 1585, 8vo. Translated into English, under the title, The Three Orations of Demosthenes, cheefe Orator among the Grecians, in favour of the Olynthians, a people in Thracia, now called Romania; with those his fower Orations titled expressly and by name, against King Philip of Macedonie; most nedefull to be redde in these daungerous dayes, of all them who love their Countries libertie, and desire to take warning for their better avayle, by ex-q ample of others. Englished out of the Greke, by Thomas Wilson, Doctor of the Civil Lawes. Lond. 1570, 4to. translated at the express request of Queen Elysabeth, when at war with Philip of Spain. The second Olynthian of Demosthenes, translated in the year 1702, by the Right Hon. George Granville, Lord Lansdowne, in his genuine works, Verse and Prose. Lond. 1732, 4to. The first and third Olynthiacs, and the four Philippics of Demosthenes, by several hands; revised and corrected, with a translation of the second Olynthiac, the Oration de Pace, and that de Chersoneso. To which are added, all the Arguments of Libanius, and Select Notes from Ulpian, by Tho. Broughton. Lond. 8vo.—Orationes Philippicæ et Olynthiacæ, Cantab. 1747, 3 vols. 4to. This is a most excellent Work, but the Author did not live to finish it. It wants the first volume. The text is formed on the Francfort edition of 1604, and contains the mixed Notes of Wolf, Taylor, and Markland.—The English Translations of his whole Works are: Orations of Demosthenes, translated by the Rev. u Philip Francis; with Critical and Historical Notes. Lond. 1757-8, 2 vols. 4to. A very excellent Translation, accompanied with very learned and useful Notes. Reprinted, Lond. 1775, 2 vols. 4to.—The different translations of Demosthenes' Works in English, collected in a new edition. Lond. 1802, 2 vols. 8vo. 1804, 2 vols. 8vo. These translations are executed by Dr. Leland: they are done with great taste and judgment.—The best foreign editions of the Works of Demosthenes are, Orationes duæ et sexagintæ, cum Argumentis Libanii. Venet. apud Aldum, 1504, fol. This is the editio princeps. Aldus having found a MS. much more correct than the one from which the ed. prin. was printed, published another edition the same year.

v The first edition is the scarcest.—Opera, cum Comm. Ulpiani, et Annott. per Erasmum et alios. Basil. per Joh. Kervagium, 1532, fol. An excellent and correctly printed edition; it is formed on the text of Aldus, with several corrections to the better.—Opera, Gr. à Jo. Bernardo Feliciano. Ven. in æd. Fr. Brucioli, 1543, 3 vols. 8vo. A very scarce and valuable edition. The various readings are placed at the end of each volume. This Work afterwards formed the basis of several of the best editions.—Orationes, Gr. Hervagii. Basil. 1547, 3 vols. 8vo. This edit. wants the Notes, and has the various readings subjoined to each volume. Reprinted, Basil. 1550, 3 vols. 8vo.—Orationes Wolfii. Basil. 1549-72. Gr. Lat. fol. Venet. w 1550, 3 vols. 8vo. Francof. 1604, fol. These are the best editions by Wolf. The edition of 1604, is more beautiful and accurate than the other two.—Opera, corrigente Paulo Manutio. Ven. 1554, 3 vols. 8vo. This Work has not much to recommend it, either for its accuracy or typographical beauty.—Orationes Græce, à Dionysio Lambino et Guill. Morellio. Paris, apud Benenat, 1570, fol. This edition contains the Scholia of Ulpian. It is a beautiful and correct edition, very scarce.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Comm. Ulpiani, cumque Interpretat. variis Lectionibus, et Annotationibus. Hier. Wolfii. Basil. per Euseb. Episcopium, 1572. Franc. 1604. An excellent edition.—Opera, cum Comment var. à Jo. Jac. Reiske, Gr. Lips. x 1770, 2 vols. 8vo. This is the editio optima, and forms the two first volumes of the Oratores Græce.—Opera. Gr. Lat. Augeri.—Paris, 1790, 4to. DICTYS Cretensis, is the supposed name of a very ancient Historian, who served under Idomeneus, King of Crete, in the Trojan War, and who is said to have written, the History of that Expedition, in nine books; but that which now goes under his name is thought to be spurious, and a production of the 15th century. The following are the earliest and best editions of this Author, sometimes printed along with Dares, another Trojan Historian.—Dares et Dictys, Historiæ Belli Trojani, à Franc. Faragonio, absque ulla nota. 4to. This is supposed to have been printed at Mentz, about A. D. 1470, and to be the editio princeps.—Ephemerides Belli Trojani, libri vi. sine ulla nota. 4to. This contains Dictys Cretensis alone. Some suppose it to have been printed at Mentz, others, more probably, at Cologne, by Arnold Thervernen, about A. D. 1470.—Dares et Dictys Cret. à Masello. Mediol. 1477, 4to. These two, though in this edition bound together, appear to have been printed as separate works.—Dares et Dictys ex edit. Faragonii. Messanæ, Guil. Schomberger. 1498, 4to. This is the first edition to be found with a date.—Dares et Dictys, ex eadem editione Faragonii. Venet. Christ. Mandellus de Pensis, 1499, 4to.—Dares et Dictys. Vitebergæ, J. Irunenbergius. 1512, 4to.—Dictys Cretensis, cum figuris. Paris, in Officina Nicol. de Pratis, Petrus Gondoul, 1520, 4to.—De Bello Trojano, libri vi. Q. Septimio Romano Interprete. Daretis Phrygii de Excidio Trojæ liber, interprete Cornelio Nepote. Declamationes tres ejusdem ferè argumenti, prima Libanii Sophistæ, reliquæ incerti auctoris, ab Erasmo Roterodamo Latino donatæ. Basil. 1529, 8vo. Paris, 1564, 16mo. Lugd. 1598, 12mo.—Dares et Dictys. Lugd. Gryphius, 1552, 12mo. Paris, 1560, 8vo. Lugd. Gryph. 1569, 16mo. This last edition also contains, tres Libanii Declamationes.—Dares et Dictys. Basil. Petrus Penia, 1575, 8vo.—Dictys Cretensis de Bello Trojano, et Dares Phrygius de Excidio Troiæ. Additæ sunt ad Dictym notæ. R. Steph. 1618, 12mo. Et cum Notis. Amst. ap. Gul. Bleanus, 1630, 8vo. Amst. 1631, 24mo.—Dares et Dictys, ab Anna Tanaquilli Fabri Filia (Madam Dacier) in usum Delphini. Paris, 1680, 4to.; and very valuable and scarce, the greatest part of the impression having been accidentally burned.—Dares et Dictys cum Notis Variorum à Lud. Smids. Argentor. 1691, 4to. et 8vo. An edition preferred to the one preceding.—Dictys Cretensis de Bello Trojano, et Dares Phrygius de Excidio Trojæ: in usum Delphini cum interpret. Annæ Daceriæ, accedunt Notæ variorum; necnon Josephus Iscanus, cum Notis S. Dresemii. Amst. 1702, 4to. This is the best edition, adorned with ancient medals.—These works were translated into Italian, and printed at Vineg. 1543, 8vo. Trad. per Tomaso Porcacchi. Verona, 1734, 4to.—There is also a translation of them both into English, under the title, The Auncient Historie, and only trewe and syncere Chronicle of the Warres betwixte the Grecians and the Troyans, and subsequently of the fyrst overcyon of the auncient and famouse Cytye of Troye, under Lamedon the King, and of the laste and fynall dystruction of the same under Pryam. Written by Daretus, a Troyan, and Dictus, a Grecian, both soldiours, and present in all the said Warres. Translated into English verse, by John Lydgate. Lond. 1555, fol. x y z a DIO Chrysostom, was born at Prusa, in Bithynia, the son of Pasicrates. He lived to old age, but the time of his death cannot be ascertained.—His Orations are still extant.—De Regno. Without date, place, or name of printer, 8vo. Editio princeps Latinè. A small and neatly executed work of very considerable rarity—De Ilio non capto. Printed by Berhardinus Venetus. Venice, 1499, 4to. This is the second impression of the Latin version, l by Philadelphus, of the preceding work.—The first edition of his works was published at Milan, Dionysius Paravisinus, 1476, 4to. The principal subsequent editions are, Orationes 4. Gr. Paris. Wechel, 1533, 4to. Very scarce. Orationes, Gr. Venice, apud Aldum, 1551, 8vo. Gr. Venet. Frid. Turris, sine anno, 8vo. Gr. Lat. ab J. Casaubono. Paris, 1604, fol. A good edition. The late Rev. Gilbert Wakefield published select Essays of Dio Chrysostom; translated into English from the Greek, with Notes critical and illustrative. 1800, 8vo.

DIODORUS, of Antioch, Priest of that Church in the 4th century.—Only some fragments of his writings are come down to us in the Catena Patrum Græcorum.

DIODORUS, Siculus, an ancient Historian, was born at Agyrium, in Sicily, and flourished in the 1st century under Julius and Augustus Cæsar. He was Author of a very extensive work called an Historical Library, which, as he tells us, took him 30 years to compile. This work originally consisted of 40 books, of which only 15 are extant.—Historiarum Priscarum lib. sex e Græco in Latinum traducti per Franc. Poggium. Accedit Cornelii Taciti o de Situ et Moribus Populorum Germaniæ libellus aureus. Bononiæ, 1472, fol. Editio princeps of the Latin Translation; a rare and singular edition.—Historiarum Priscarum à Poggio, in Latinam traductus et Cornel. Tacitus de Moribus Germanorum, editio secunda. 1476. A beautiful and scarce work, printed by Andreas Jacobus Andrensis. Historiæ Priscæ. Lat. una cum Corn. Tacito de Germanor. Moribus ac Vita. Venet. 1481, fol. The printer of this work was Thomas Alexandrinus.—Libri v. priores à Poggio Latinitate donati, una cum libris xvi. et xvii. Interprete Aug. S. Barth. Cospo. Basil. H. Petrus excud. 1531.—Historiarum Libri aliquot. Gr. opera et studio Vincentii Obsopœi. Basil. 1539, 4to. This is the editio princeps p of the original Greek: a very rare work, but not remarkable for correctness. It only contains books 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th.—Et una cum Libris xi. xii. et xiii. sed non integro, incerto interprete. Lugd. apud Seb. Gryphium, 1552, 8vo.—Bibliothecæ Historicæ libri xv. de xl. (nempe priores v. et secunda Decas) Græce, cum excerptis è libris deperd. Supplemento, et Notis Henr. Stephani. Paris, 1559, fol. A good edition. To this edition is prefixed a short tract, De Diodoro et ejus Scriptis. The 20th book is succeeded by excerpta from the latter books of Diodorus which Stephans had found a few years before at Rome, bound up with several other Tracts.—Bibliothecæ Historicæ libri xv. Hoc est quotquot Græcè extant de quadra-q ginta, quarum v. nunc iterum Latinè diligenter recogniti, et Chronologia illustrati eduntur. Interjecta vero est Dictys Cretensis et Daretis Phrygii de Bello Trajano Historia, et Tryphiodori Ægyptii Ilii excidium, Gulielmo Xylandro interpr. ad supplendam lacunam quinque librorum, qui inter Quintum et Undecimum desiderantur. In calce operis accessere Fragmenta Historica ejusdem Diodori Latine versa. Basil. 1578, fol.—Excerpta è Libris Diodori amissis, Græce, per D. Hoeschelium edit. Aug. Vind. 1603, 4to.—Biblio. Hist. Gr. Lat. cum Chronologia duplici, per Laur. Rhodomanum. Han. typis Wechelianis, 1604. The text of this edition is from Stephans. It is very correctly edited, but of no typographical beauty. Re-r printed. Han. typ. Wechel. 1611, 8vo.—Excerpta ex Diodoro, Gr Lat. cum Notis Hen. Valesii. Paris, 1634, 4to.—Bibl. Hist. à Petro Wesselingio. Amst. 1746, 2 vols. fol. A very scarce and dear work. It is most splendidly executed, and contains every thing valuable in preceding editions. It contains very full and perfect indexes, with a minute account of the various MSS. and editions of this Author, in the Preface.—Bibl. Hist. à C. B. Beck, Gr. et Lat. Lipsiæ, 1792, &c. 8vo.—Bibliothecæ Historicæ Libri, Græcè, cura Heyne et Eyring. Biponti, 1793, &c. 10 vols. 8vo. A very complete and excellent edition. It is formed upon the edition of Wesseling, but much more correct.—Bibl. Hist. ex Recensione Wesselingii, cura Wachs ler. Lemgo, 1795, 8vo.—Bibl. Hist. Gr. cura Eichstadt. Halæ, 1800, 2 vols. 1st and 2d. A very excellent edition but incomplete. It only goes the length of the fourteenth Book. The typography of this edition falls short in beauty of execution to the Bipont.—The English Translations of this Author are: A righte noble and pleasaunt Historie of the successors of Alexander, taken out of Diodorus Siculus, by Mr. Thomas Stocker. Lond. about 1568, 4to.—The History of the World, done into English by Mr. Cogan. Lond. 1653, fol.—The History of the successors of Alexander, &c. out of Diodorus Siculus, and Plutarch, by Tho. Stocker. Lond. 1659, 4to.—The Historical Library of Diodorus the Sicilian, in fifteen Books. To which t are added, the Fragments of Diodorus, the Sicilian, in fifteen Books, found in the Bibliotheca of Photius: together with those published by Valesius, Rhodomannus, and Ursinis. Made English by G. Booth, of the City of Chester. Lond. 1700, fol. Lond. 1721, fol. These two editions have been considered as the same with the alteration of the title. A very correct work, illustrated with two Maps. Two Fragments of the 24th Book of Diodorus Siculus, translated into English by Mr. John Toland. Lond. 1726, 8vo.—The principal foreign translations are: in French, L'Histoire des Successeurs d'Alexandre le Grand, extraicte de Diodore Sicilien: et quelque peu des Vies escriptes par Plutharque, transl. par Messire Claude de Seyssel. Paris, 1527, u fol.—Les trois premiers Livres de l'Histoire de Diodore Sicilien; Historiographe Grec, translatez de Latin en Françoys, par Maistre Anthoine Macault. Paris, 1541, 8vo.—In German. Basil, 1554, fol.—In Italian da Francesco Baldelli. Ven. 1574, 2 vols. 4to.

DIOGENES Laertius, so called from Laertes, a town of Cilicia, where he is supposed to have been born; the time when he flourished is not known. He is author of ten Books on the Lives of the Philosophers still extant. He is considered to have been of the sect called Eclectics.—De Vitis Philosophorum, è Græco Latine redditus, interprete Ambrosio Camaldulensi; item Epistola ad Cosmam Medicem. Venet. per N. Basil, 1524, 4to.—De Vitis, Dogmatis, et Apophthegmatis Philosophorum, libri x. Græce. Basil, per H. Froben. et N. Episcopium, 1533, 4to. This is the editio princeps of Diogenes, in Greek, by itself. It had previously been printed by Aldus, along with the Lives of Theophrastus, in the editio princeps of Aristotle's Works. —De Vitis Philosoph. opera Joannis Sambucci; cum Indice. Antw. apud Plant. 1566, 8vo.—De Vitis, Decretis, et Responsis celebrium Philosophorum Libri. Lat. Lugd. apud Gryph. 1566, 12mo. Lugd. 1592, 12mo.—De Vitis Philosophorum, Gr. Lat. ex Interpretatione Fr. Ambrosii, cum Notis Hen. w Stephani. Paris, 1570, 8vo. A very correct edition; and contains the Fragments of Pythagoras, collected from Stobæus at the end. Reprinted with the addition of the learned Notes of Casaubon, under the name of Hortibonus, 1594. Reprinted with Casaubon's Notes. Col. Allobr. 1615, 8vo. The notes in this last Edition are somewhat more numerous than in the preceding. The text is formed upon the basis of Stephans' second edition. This edition has sometimes the date 1616.—De Vitis Philosophorum, cum interpretationibus et Notis Th. Aldrobrandini. Rom. ap. Al. Zanettum, 1594, fol. An excellent edition, corrected from an ancient and valuable MS. in the Farnese Palace. The notes and Latin version of Aldobrandinus, are posthumous.— x Vitæ Philosophorum; Scriptoribus Diogene Laertio, Eunapio Sardiano, Hesychio illustrio. Lugd. Stephani et utriusque Casauboni; cum uberrimis Ægidii Menagii Observationibus. Lond. 1664, fol. This is a splendid and rare work; it was first printed, 1662.—De Vitis Philosophorum cum Observationibus Joach. Kühnii. Latinam Ambrosii Versionem complevit et illustravit Marcus Meibomius. Amst. 1692, 2 vols. 4to. This may be considered the editio y optima of this Author. It is a scarce and valuable work, and its typographical beauty is becoming of its accuracy. The text is formed on the Roman edition of 1594, divided into sections, and revised and corrected from former editions, and a Cambridge and Arundelian MS. The first volume contains the text, the second the annotations.—De Vitis Philosophorum, a Longolio, Gr. et Lat. Curiæ Regnitianæ, 1739, 2 vols. 8vo. Reprinted, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1759, 8vo. The first edition is the text of Meibomius, corrected in several places: the books are divided in Chapters, according to the Lives. It is illustrated with engraven heads and enlarged indexes. The second is an abridgment of the first edition, with the plates and preface.—The z English Translations are: The Lives, Opinions, and Remarkable Sayings of the most famous ancient Philosophers, written in Greek, by Diogenes Laertius, made English by several hands. Lond. 1688, 2 vols. 8vo.—Second edition. DORINGK, or Thoringk, Matthias, a Writer of the 15th century, was born at Kiritz; the time of his death is a disputed point. Casimir Oudin gives 1494 as the date of that event, which Marchand, with some proba-j bility, reduces to 1464. While Professor at Magdeburg, at which time strictures and objections against the short Commentaries on the Scriptures of Nicholas de Lyra, were published by Paul de Burgos, Doringk undertook their defence, and farther illustration.—The different pieces which he wrote on these subjects were collected together, and inserted in an edition comprehending the Works of both those Authors. Paris, 1590, 6 vols. fol. It went through several editions.—To him some have ascribed the Miroir Historical, known by the name of, The Chronicle of Nuremberg; but there is reason to think it was by another hand.—He is said to have compiled also, a continu-k ation of the Chronicle of Theodore Engelhuisius, from 1420 to 1498, printed in the Collection of German Historians, by Mencken.

s munion Romaine de xvi. et xvii. siécle. Paris, 1718, 4 vols. 8vo.—Besides these works, he was employed in the earlier editions of Moreri's Dictionary.—Harlay, Archbishop of Paris, published a Decree against his Bibliotheque in 1693, with Dupin's Retraction, both of which were translated and printed. By William Wotton, B. D. Lond. 1703, fol. He however went on with his work, and by some means obtained a permission to print with some small alteration in the title, from Bibliothéque Universelle to Bibliothéque Nouvelle, and the addition of the Ecclesiastical History to the Ecclesiastical Biography; concluding with the beginning of the 18th century; the whole making 47 vols. 8vo. Reprinted. Amst. 19 vols. 4to. But as t most of these volumes were printed with the first, this edition is imperfect. It was also begun to be translated into Latin, and the first 3 vols. printed at Amsterdam, but no farther progress was made. He was engaged, at his death, in a Latin Translation, to which he intended to make considerable additions. It was likewise translated into English, and printed at London, in several volumes, fol.; usually bound in seven. A much finer edition was printed by Grierson of Dublin, 3 vols. fol. The Translation appears to have been executed partly by Digby Cotes, and revised by Wotton. It was attacked by M. Simon, in a book printed at Paris, under the following title, Critique de la Bibliothéque des Auteurs Ecclesiastiques, et de Prolegomenes u de la Bible, publiez par M. Ellies Dupin. Avec des Eclaircissemens et des Supplemens aux endroits aù en les a jugé necessaires, par feu M. Richard Simon, avec des Remarques. Paris, 1730, 4 vols. 8vo. Ecclesiastical Writers. See Cotes, D.

DURAND, William, known by the name of Speculator, first Chaplain to Pope Clement IV. afterwards Bishop of Mende, a most learned Lawyer of the 13th century, was born at Puimoisson, in Provence; died at Rome, 1296. His Works are,—Rationale Divinorum Officiorum. Moguntiæ, per Johannem j Fust et Petrum Schoiffer de Gernzheim, 1459, fol. Editio princeps. This work is of the earliest date in the art of printing, with the exception of the Psalters of 1457 and 1459. It shews a degree of perfection in its execution that has scarcely been surpassed by subsequent typographic productions. This is the first work printed in the smallest type of Fust and Schoeffer; it is printed in double-columned pages, with 63 lines in each full page: a vast quantity of materials at such an early stage of the typographic art. It is very seldom if ever to be met with now. Rationale Divinorum Officiorum. August. Vind. ap. Ginth. Zainer, 1470, fol. This edition is printed in columns, with 50 lines in a page; and is without signatures, catchword, &c. New

ELZEVIRS, a celebrated family of Printers in the 17th century. Of twelve who exercised the Art, seven have distinguished themselves by the c beauty and excellence of their productions. The first of this name was Louis, who printed at Leyden, from 1595 to 1616. He was the first who made the distinction of u from v and i from j; which was shortly after followed by the introduction of U and J among the capitals, by Lazarus Zetner, of Strasburg, in 1619. Isaac succeeded Louis as Printer at Leyden: his productions extend from 1617 to 1628. Bonaventure and Abraham, brothers and partners, next carried on the business at Leyden, from 1626 to 1652, when both died. The neat and correct 12 editions are attributed to their press; they likewise printed an extensive Collection of the Historians of almost every State in the world. John, son of Abraham, printed in partnership with Daniel at Leyden, d from 1652 to 1654; and alone from 1655 to 1661. Louis second, and son of Isaac, printed alone at Amsterdam, from 1640 to 1655; and in partnership with Daniel till 1662, when he died. Daniel who was son of Bonaventure, and previously in partnership with John, from 1652, to 1654; carried on business alone after the death of Louis second, until his decease, 1680. His m widow carried on the business but a short time longer. The works of these Printers are very numerous; and remarkable for the clearness, elegance and closeness of the types, the solidity and great whiteness of their paper, and the excellence of the pressmanship. M. Brunet has given a copious list of the small Elzevir Editions. The following list is what has been called the

It would appear that Estius carried the Commentary no farther than 1 John v. and that the remainder was supplied by Berth. de la Pierre. This work was reprinted, studio Jacobi Merlohorstii. Rothom. 1709, 2 vols. fol. This is considered the best edition.—Commentarii in quatuor libros Sententiarum. Douay, 1615, 4 vols. fol. Reprinted, Paris, 1638, 3 vols. fol. Paris, 1696, 2 vols. fol.
q This work is much admired by the Catholics. The last of these three editions is considered the best; the rest are not much inferior.—Several of his Latin pieces, and a work entitled, Contra Avariciam Scientiam, are printed in Francis Vianeu's Work at Brussels, entitled, Tractatus Triplex de Ordine Amoris. Louvain, 1585, 8vo. This Contra Avariciam, is a work wrote against those learned men who keep their improvements and discoveries to themselves.—Annotationes in præcipua difficiliora S. Scripturæ loca. Antw. 1621, fol. Paris, 1685, fol. A work which has passed through several editions, and is still held in high estimation.

ESTOILE, Claude de l', a French Dramatic Writer, was born 1598; r died 1652.—He wrote several Odes, printed in the Recueil des Poetes François. 1692, 5 vols. 12mo.

ESTOILE, Peter de l', Grand Auditor of the Chancery of Paris; died 1611.—He left several manuscripts, of which the following were published, Journal of Henry III. published by the Abbé Langlet du Fresnoy. Haye, 1744, 5 vols. 8vo. with the addition of several scarce pieces on the League. These were a selection of pamphlets and satires, which he pressed forth unceasingly in these turbulent times.—Journal of the reign of Henry IV. with historical and political remarks, by the Abbé Langlet du Fresnoy; and several other interesting pieces of the same period. Haye, s 1741, 4 vols. 8vo. 2d edition. Haye, 1761, 4 vols. 8vo. These works being incomplete, by the omission of several years, they were supplied in a work entitled, a Supplement, containing the years 1598-99-1600-1, (by an anonymous person), 1636. The two Journals of the Grand Auditor were published by the Messrs. Godefroi, the first under the title of, Journal of Henry III. Cologne, 4 vols. 8vo. The second, under that of, Mémoires pour servir à l'Histoire de France. 1719, 2 vols. 8vo. with plates. These Journals throughout shew an attachment to the government, and great precision and veracity in the statements.

Published by the care and industry of John Leeke and George Serle, students in the Mathematics. Lond. 1661, fol. Prefixed, Dr. Dee's Mathematical Preface.—The first Six Books of Euclid's Elements, in Mr. Moore's Sysa tem of the Mathematics. Lond. 1680, 2 vols. 4to.—The first Six Books of Euclid's Elements; as also the eleventh and twelfth, symbolically demonstrated, by Jonas Moore, Knight, F. R. S. in his new System of the Mathematics. Lond. 1681, 2 vols. 4to.—The Elements of Euclid, explained and demonstrated in a new but most easy method; with the uses of each Proposition in all the parts of the Mathematics, from the French of Claude Millet François de Chales. Augmented and illustrated with nine copperplates, by William Hallifax. Lond. 1685, 1700, 1704, 1712, 1720, 1726, 1748, 1752, 8vo. One of the most useful translations of Euclid ever published.—Euclid's Elements; six books, by Edmund Scarburgh. Oxford, 1698.
b With Annotations and Supplements. Oxon. 1705, fol.—The Elements of Euclid; with select Theorems out of Archimedes, by the learned Andrew Tacquet. To which is added, Practical Corollaries, shewing the uses of many of the Propositions; abridged and published by Wm. Whiston, A. M. Lond. 1714, 1719, 1727, 1747. A useful edition, and formed on the plan of De Chales.—Euclid's Elements; containing the first, six, eleventh, and twelfth books. From the Latin translation of Commandine, by John Keill, revised and corrected by John Ham. Lond. 1733, 1742, 1744, 1745, 1762, 1767, 1772. 12th edition. Lond. 1782, 8vo.—The six first, together with c the eleventh and twelfth books of Euclid's Elements; demonstrated after a new, plain, and easie method, by Henry Hill, A. M. Lond. 1726, 4to.—Euclid's Elements, volume second; containing from the seventh to the fifteenth book inclusive, with the Data not published by Dr. Keill, and now translated from Dr. Gregory's edition. With an Account of the Life and Writings of Euclid, and a Defence of his Elements; by Ed. Stone, F. R. S. Lond. 1728, 1731, 1745, 1752, 1763, 1765, 2 vols. 8vo.—The Elements of Euclid, explained and demonstrated in a new and more easy method than any hitherto extant; with the uses of each Proposition in all parts of the Mathematics, by Claud Françoise Millet de Chales. Done out of French, by Reeve Williams; and now revised, corrected, and greatly improved, by d Samuel Ashby. Lond. 1748, 12mo. The fifth edition. This edition contains the first six books, the eleventh, and the twelfth. It is an excellent edition, and preferable to all preceding ones, with the exception of De Chales'.—The Elements of Euclid; the first six, the eleventh, and twelfth. In this edition the errors by which Theon and others have long ago vitiated these books, are corrected, and some of Euclid's demonstrations restored; also the book of Euclid's Data in like manner corrected, by Robert Simson, M. D. Professor of Mathematics in the University of Glasgow. Glasg. 1756, 4to. Reprinted, Glasg. 1762, 8vo. 3d edition; with the Elements of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry. Edin. 1767, 1775, 1787, 8vo. A e most excellent work. Dr. S. has restored to the 5th book nine Theorems, and an excellent Definition of Compound Ratios.—An Appendix to Euclid's Elements, in seven books; containing 42 copperplates, in which the Doctrine of Solids delivered in the 11th, 12th, and 15th books of Euclid is illustrated and rendered easy by new invented schemes cut out of pasteboard, by John Lodge Cowley, F. R. S. Lond. 1759, 4to. Very scarce, and of great utility.—The Elements of Euclid; in which the Propositions are demonstrated in a new and shorter manner than in former translations. To which are added, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Tables of Logarithms from 1 to 10,000, and Tables of Sines, Tangents, and Secants, natural and artificial.
f By George Douglas. Edin. 1776, 8vo. A useful edition.—Elements of Euclid; with Dissertations, intended to assist and encourage a critical examination of those Elements, as the most effectual means of establishing a juster taste upon Mathematical subjects than that which at present prevails. By William Williamson, M. A. Lond. 1781-88, 2 vols. 4to. A very literal translation from the Greek of the 13 books of Euclid, accompanied with eight Dissertations.—Elements of Geometry; in which all the material Propositions in the first six, eleventh, and twelfth books of Euclid are demonstrated with conciseness and perspicuity. By Wm. Scott. Lond. 1783, 12mo.—The Philosophical and Mathematical Commentaries of Proclus, g on the first book of Euclid's Elements, &c.; with Dissertations, &c. By Tho. Taylor. Lond. 1789, 2 vols. 4to.—Elements of Geometry, containing the principal Propositions in the first six, eleventh, and twelfth Books of Euclid, with Notes, &c. By John Bonnycastle. Lond. 1789, 8vo.—Elements of Geometry; containing the first six Books of Euclid, with two Books on the Geometry of Solids; to which are added, Elements of Plane and Spherical Geometry. By John Playfair, F. R. S. Edin. 1795, 8vo. 2d edit. Lond. 1804, 8vo. Edin. 1805, 8vo.—The Elements of Euclid: the first six books, with the eleventh and twelfth, in which the errors overlooked by Dr. Simson and others are corrected, and the obscurities explained, h some of Euclid's Demonstrations restored, others made shorter, and several useful Propositions added. Together with Elements of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, and a Treatise on Practical Geometry. By A. Ingram. Edin. 1799, 8vo. Lond. 1801, 8vo. An excellent Work, and in merit not inferior to Dr. Simson's.—For. Edit. Elementorum libri xv. Lat. cum Campani Commentariis. Ven. 1482, fol. Editio princeps. A very rare and singular production; and very remarkable as being the first in which mathematical delineations occur. The paper is excellent, the letter small and neat, and the ink of a fine glossy black, illuminated with capitals cut on wood. The geometrical figures are cut in metal, and give the work great elegance i and interest.—Elementa. Ulmæ, J. Roger, 1486, fol.—Elementa. Vicentiæ, Leon. Basil. EUSEBIUS, Joannes.—Historia Naturæ Maximæ Peregrinæ. Antw. 1655, fol.

EUSEBIUS, Pamphilus, an eminent Ecclesiastical Historian, was born at Palestine, about A. D. 267: according to Cave, he was a native of Cæsarea; d died about 338 or 340.——CHRONICON.—Chronicon, Latine. Printed by Philip de Lavagna, without place or date, 4to. Editio princeps. A beautiful impression, and supposed to have been printed about 1475. This Chronology is divided into two parts: the first, which is very much mutilated, contains a history of the Chaldeans, Assyrians, Medes, Persians, Lydians, Jews, Egyptians, &c. from the creation of the world; the second part, called Canon Chronicus, is a history of the several Nations, according to the order of time. St. Jerome translated both parts into Latin: of this translation the second part is entire, of the first only a few extracts are in existence. The first edition of this is mentioned above, it was reprinted by H. Stephens. e Paris, 1518, fol. Very scarce. Basil. 1536, fol.—Chronicon Pamphili, Ruffini, Socratis, Theodoriti, Sozomeni, Theodori, Evagrii, et Dorothei, Ecclesiastica Historia, sex prope Seculorum res gestas; ex Fide Græcorum Codicum, per Johan. Constantini, libri iv. quibus subjicij tur Oratio Constantini ad Sanctos et Panegyricus Eusebii; a Gul. Reading. Cantab. 1720, 3 vols. fol. A very superior edition. It was very incorrectly printed at Turin, 3 vols. fol.—Historia Ecclesiastica, à Frid. And. Stroth, Gr. Halæ, 1779, 8vo. This most popular work contains the History of the Church from the beginning, to the death of Licinus, including a period of about 324 years. At the end of the eighth book, is a small distinct tract, by some confounded with the eighth book, whereas it serves as a supplement to it; it is entitled, Of the Martyrs of Palestine, wherein is described, the martyrdom of those who suffered for the faith of Christ in that province.—The English Translations are: The auncient Ecclesiastik cal Histories of the first six hundred years after Christ; written in the Greek tongue, by three learned Historiographers, Eusebius, Socrates, and Evagrius. Whereunto is annexed, Dorotheus of the Lives of the Prophets, Apostles, and Seventy Disciples, by Meredith Hanmer, Master of Arte. Lond. 1577, fol. Second edition. Lond. 1585, fol. Lond. 1607, 1636, fol. Fifth edition, containing Eusebius' four books concerning the Life of Constantine, and the two Orations subjoined thereunto; done by Wyl. Saltonstall. Lond. 1650, fol. Republished, with Valesius' Annotations. Camb. 1683, fol. Reprinted, 1692, fol.—The History of the Church, &c. as written in Greek, by Eusebius, Socrates, and Evagrius; also the l four books of the Life of Constantine, Constantine's Oration to the Convention of the Saints, and Eusebius' Speech in praise of Constantine, spoken at his Tricennalia. Translated from the edition of H. Valesius, with a translation also of Valesius' Notes, and his Account of the Lives and Writings of those Historians; with two indexes. Lond. 1683, fol. Second edition, in which are added: 1. Two Maps, containing all the places mentioned in these Ecclesiastical Histories; 2. Some Observations in reference to the Geographical part of these Historians, and to the aforesaid Maps, by Ed. Wells, D. D.; 3. The order of the Presidency of the Patriarchs, taken from Bishop Beveridge's Pandects; and 4. A Chronological Index m of the Popes and Emperors, taken from Cabassutius. Lond. 1709, fol. This is the best English translation.—Eusebius Pamphilus his ten books of Ecclesiastical History; faithfully translated and abridged from the original, by S. Parker, gentleman. Reprinted with the second part, containing an abridgment of Socrates, Sozomen, and Theodoret. Lond. 1729, 4to. An excellent translation, and little inferior to the edition in 1709.—An Abridgment of Eusebius' Ecclesiastical History, in two parts: 1. A Commodious Commemoration of the remarkable Chronologies which are contained in that famous History; 2. A Summary of the twelve Persecutions, &c. Whereunto is added, A Catalogue of Synods and Councils. By Wm. Can ton. Lond. 1736, 8vo.—The French translations are very numerous, among which are those, by M. Claude de Seyssel. Bourgess, 1532, fol. Antw. 1533, 8vo. Paris, 1553, 8vo. Par M. Cousin. Paris, 1675-6, 4 vols. 4to. Paris, 1686, 5 vols. 8vo.——PRÆP. EVAN.—Eusebii Præparat. Evangelica, Latine. Printed by Jenson. Ven. apud Aldum, 1550, fol. This Work was wrote in defence of the Christian Religion, against Hieroclis, who had wrote against it. It is to be found printed at the end of the, De Demonstratione Evangelica, and at the end of Philostratus de Vita Apollonii.—Contra Marcellum, libri ii. et De Ecclesiastica Theologia, libri iii. This work was intended to confute the doctrines of Marcellus, bishop of Ancyra, who was condemned in the Synod of Constantinople for Sabellianism, about A. D. 336. This, like the preceding, is to be found subjoined to his De Demonstratione.—Epistola ad Cæsarienses de fide Nicæna. This piece is preserved in the Ecclesiastical Histories of Socrates and Theodoret.—Oratio de Laudibus Constantini. Subjoined s to the Ecclesiastical History.—De Vita Constantini, libri iv. Subjoined to the Ecclesiastical History. This piece is more a Panegyric than a Life. Its authenticity has been doubted.
